SCHOOL BOARD MEETS

Grievances Presented to Body Which Considers Them Behind Closed Doors.

EXCLUDE NEWS REPORTER.

Other Matters Settled Before the Star Chamber Session Begins.

The Board of Education of the city of Paris met in regular session at the public school building last night. The meeting was presided over by President Clifton Arnsperger and the following members of the Board were present: Messrs. Arnsperger, Lapsley, Rion, Renick and Clendenin.

The most important matter to come before the board were complaints registered against the suspension of Misses Edna Keller and Elsie Varden, who were denied admission to the school for the coming session, for an alleged violation of the rule in effect, of leaving last year before the term was completed, and in view of the fact that each had received a grade of more than 90 per cent. during the whole year, and were exempt from tests or examinations.

The matter was laid before the board in each case, the first coming through the mother of Miss Keller, while the case of Miss Varden was stated by Mr. Renick, the board deferred action until all other business had been transacted, when it went into executive session after excluding from the meeting representative of the News, the only spectator.

At the opening of the meeting the minutes of the last regular meeting and that of the special meeting held on Aug. 27, to consider the irregularities in the census report. The report of Superintendent Chauman showed a total enrollment at the school this season of 651, of which 116 are in the High School. The committee on finances made its report and the usual number of bills were allowed.

President Arnsperger stated he had been in communication with State Superintendent of Public Instruction Harksdale Hamlet who stated in effect that he would be in Paris in the near future to look into the census reports as filed with him following the investigation conducted by two inspectors sent here from the department.

A letter from the officials at Farnfort was read to the board, which was to the effect that the guns now being used in the military department together with the equipment were recalled, and a representative of the Board will go to Farnfort today in an effort to purchase the arms for use in the Paris school.

As the News closed its report the Board was still in executive session, having before it the two grievances, and had not reached a decision in either case.

Bourbon Democrats to Attend Rally.

That Bourbon county will be well represented at the State-wide ratification meeting to be held in Lexington on Thursday, Sept. 19, is shown by the unusual activity on the part of the local Democrats looking to the grand event, which will mark the launching of the Democratic campaign in this State.

Bourbon Democrats are very much enthused over the prospect for one of the largest crowds that ever left this city to attend a political meeting and the large delegation that is expected to attend will go in the grandest style. The services of one of the local bands will be secured and headed by this the delegation expects to show well against the representatives of the other counties of the State.

Special interurban car will be arranged for to carry the crowds to the neighboring city, and reduced rates will be granted to those who wish to attend. The arrangements are in the hands of Sheriff A. S. Thompson, who will give any information desired and requests that all who think there is a probability of attending this grand Democratic rally send their names to him at once.

Will Elect Officers Tomorrow.

The incorporators of the Peoples Bank of Paris recently organized with a capital stock of $50,000, will meet Saturday afternoon and elect directors and officers for the new institution.

A lease for a term of five and one half years has been secured on the Schwartz building at the corner of Main and Sixth streets, with a privilege of extending it six years longer, and workmen are now engaged in tearing out the interior preparatory to making extensive improvements which are necessary in order to convert it into a banking room.

While it is settled that Mr. Silas Bedford, at present assistant cashier of the Bourbon Bank in this city, will be selected as cashier of the new institution, the other officers for the bank have not been fully decided upon, although several prominent business men have been mentioned for the position of president.

This together with the minor offices will be filled at the meeting of the incorporators Saturday. The promoters expect to have matters in such shape as to be ready to open for business by the first or middle of November.

LIME AS A FACTOR IN STOCK FEEDING

We hear much about a deficiency of lime in the soil and of the benefits to be derived from thorough applications of ground limestone upon acid soils, but we hear much less about the status of lime in a common feeding ration, writes W. A. Freehoff in the Iowa Homestead. Stockmen will talk all day of balanced rations, the necessity of having the proteins, the carbohydrates and the fats in just the right proportions, but there is never a word about calcium, the base of lime. It may be due to the fact that a balanced ration may, whether we realize it or not, have enough of all mineral elements required by the animal. Yet it is true that a balanced ration may easily have a deficiency of minerals, to the resulting detriment of the animal fed.

Stockmen are familiar with the experiments now being carried on at the Wisconsin station to determine the phosphorus requirements of different animals. These experiments are being conducted not so much from the standpoint of the practical feeder in compiling rations as with the object to determine the role of different elements as they may be found in different grains.

One of the experiments by the Wisconsin investigators is particularly interesting. A cow giving normally from twenty-five to thirty pounds of milk was selected. She was fed a balanced ration deficient in lime. Her feed consisted of grains and oat straw combined in such a manner that the proteins and carbohydrates were in proper proportions for milk production. In fact, the cow was fed a ration common to many farms. Many men rather than feed hay to their cows fill them up on the cheaper straws and stovers and balance the ration up as best they can with milk stuffs and grains grown on the farm.

Polander, the grade Jersey cow herewith shown, is owned by the Montana Agricultural college. In May, 1911, she was started on a year's test under Montana conditions with Montana grown feeds. Her feed during the year consisted of pasture, clover silage and clover and alfalfa hay for roughage and bran, oats, shorts and barley for concentrates. Her record for the year was 10,386 pounds of milk, containing 44.8 pounds of butter fat, which would make 1,050 pounds of 80 per cent butter.

This particular cow was kept at the same ration for fifteen days. During this time she continued to produce her usual amount of milk and seemed to be in perfect health. But when she was examined at the end of the experiment it was discovered that one-fourth of her skeleton had gone into the production of milk—that is, one-fourth of the lime in the skeleton. Had the experiment continued further the cow would certainly have kept on producing normal milk, but she would have so weakened her constitution as to have caused a final collapse. This marvelous trait of the cow—or of any animal, for that matter—of drawing upon her own body and frame to supply deficiencies in the ration in order to build up the skeleton of the young normally and to feed that young with normal milk has been observed so often as to make it a law.

Now, if, instead of the oats straw, clover or alfalfa had been included in the ration, the lime lost daily in the manure and the milk would have been made up. All the legumes and most of the grasses contain much lime or calcium. The grains and mill feeds, no matter how excellent, are low, very low, in lime. Thus this experiment will teach the careful dairyman that it is not enough to balance a ration, but that he must also take into consideration the minerals, especially lime.

Sows and Their Litters.

Twelve Berkshire sows owned by the Kansas Agricultural college farrowed 103 pigs this spring. They raised eighty-two, making an average of about seven pigs from every sow. Thirteen Duroc sows farrowed 132 pigs. The Duroc sows raised 101, or almost eight pigs from every sow. Six Poland China sows farrowed forty-three and raised twenty-nine, averaging slightly less than five pigs raised from every sow. The total number of pigs farrowed was 278; the number reared 212. The highest number farrowed by any sow was thirteen. The sow, a Duroc, raised ten of the thirteen, but two of the other Durocs and one Berkshire raised ten also. One Berkshire and one Poland China sow raised only two of the three pigs that each farrowed.—Kansas Farmer.

The Rusty Milk Can.

Pay particular attention to washing and scalding the cans, a brush being used for washing. Milk cannot be free from taint and in proper condition for making a fine product if stored in a can not properly cleaned. Discard the old rusty can. No person can wash it properly. It has served its time and since becoming rusty has lost enough dollars through tainted milk to buy many new cans.

DAIRY WISDOM.

Keep up the brushing after the cows go out to pasture. There will always be some little stuff clinging to the cow's side where she has lain down on the ground.

Use only a thoroughbred butter bred sire for next year's crop of calves. The aim should be to make each heifer better than her dam.

The young calf's stomach is sensitive, and good results can only be had when the milk is fed at blood heat, or the temperature that it comes from the cow.

It pleases the cow to be milked quickly and gets her in the habit of giving down promptly. It is often the slow milkers that make the strippers.

Gentleness and patience are always important in the dairy barn, but doubly so when handling the young heifer.

ANIMAL ODORS IN MILK.

Simple Test Demonstrates the Value of Dairy Cleanliness.

To find out how animal and stable odors get into milk one may take two one pint glass fruit jars, wash them perfectly clean, adjust the rubber rings, screw the covers down and take them to the stable at milking time. While the air in the stable may seem to be moderately pure, it is probably not better than the average in such buildings. As soon as a cow has been milked the jars may be filled two-thirds full of the warm milk, the cover of one screwed on tightly and the jar at once submerged in very cold running water until thoroughly chilled, when it should be placed upon a shelf until morning. The other jar should be allowed to remain open on a shelf back of the cows until after supper, when it should be closed up for the night, writes S. Van Allen in the Farm Journal.

In the morning shake both jars, open and test for odor. No mistake in determining which one was left open need usually be made. In fact, you may call in an outsider who can detect the odor in the one without knowing the previous history. The sample which was chilled may also have an odor, but not an objectionable one. Each sample may then be poured into a glass flask and slowly heated. As they warm up the opened one will give off a noticeably offensive odor, which entirely disappears a little later. The other, or the chilled jar, may show nothing offensive during the heating. In fact, it may give off a rather clean, pleasing odor, such as emanates from pure milk while being heated.

The deductions from this simple test are that the odor imparted by the cow to the milk while yet in the udder was not, at least, of such a nature or of sufficient quantity to demand aeration, but how about the milk which stands open about the barn for some time and draws odors from without as well as from the cow? This simple test will tend to show any person how carefully milk should be handled at all times in order to evade the impurities to which it is so sensitive.

A Portable Hog House.

The hog house here described was designed by W. E. McCoy, College of Agriculture, Ohio State University.

The portable hog house provides a natural and sanitary system of housing swine, as it can be moved from place to place whenever desired. Furthermore, it is easily and economically constructed. The house illustrated herewith need not cost more than

PORTABLE HOG HOUSE.

$10 or $12 where all the material is purchased, and where odd lumber is utilized the cost can be made much less. A suggested bill of material is as follows:

Runners, 2 pieces, 2 by 6 inches by 10 feet.
Frame, 9 pieces, 2 by 4 inches by 8 feet;
2 pieces, 2 by 4 inches by 5 feet.
Siding, 15 pieces, 1 by 12 inches by 16 feet;
12 pieces, 1 by 2 inches by 18 feet.
Hinges, 4.
Nails, 1 pound twenty penny, 2 pounds eight penny, 2 pounds five penny.

Treatment For Caked Udder.

When a cow has a badly caked udder she should be fed a cooling ration of roots, bran mash and good hay. A tablespoonful of saltpeter will also be beneficial. She should be watered at least twice a day, and if the "cake" feels warm bathe it in rather cold salt water, afterward rubbing dry. In persistent cases, however, the "cake" will feel cold. It should then be bathed in very warm salt water. While bathing and at other times milk vigorously, pushing upward with the hand in imitation of the calf. This last is of great importance. If the teats are filled with milk and a portion of the bag caked before the cow freshens the affected part should always be milked out at once. Delay in this is what causes so many cases of badly caked udder.—American Cultivator.

U. S. and Newspapers.

Two important and far reaching provisions dealing with the circulation of newspapers, magazines and other periodicals and the separation of legitimate editorials and other reading matter from disguised advertisements are contained in the postoffice appropriation bill passed by Congress just before adjournment.

Under the provisions of the act Uncle Sam will have possession of the circulation figures of all publications except religious, fraternal, temperance and scientific publications, and each periodical is required to print the figures, which must be sworn to, after they have been submitted to the postoffice department.

It is further required that not later than April 1 and October 1 of each year the editor, publisher, business manager or owner of every publication in question must file a sworn statement setting forth the names and postoffice addresses of the editor and managing editor, publisher, business managers and owners and the stockholders, if the publication be owned by a corporation. The names of the bond, mortgage and other security holders are also demanded.

Daily newspapers are required to furnish the average number of copies of each issue sold or distributed to paid subscribers during the preceding six months.

Any publication failing to comply with the provisions set forth will be denied the privileges of the mail within ten days after notice by registered letter of such failure.

Relative to the designation of advertising matter contained in the editorial columns, the bill provides that the word "advertisement" shall be used with all reading matter for which money or other valuable consideration is paid, accepted or promised. A fine ranging from $50 to $500 is provided for the violation of this provision.

Sugar Plums.

The ownership of a one half interest in the Western Sugar Refining Company netted the Havemeyer interests $12,950,000 in two years. In one year, 1898, this concern paid the Havemeyers six hundred thousand dollars. When the company was organized the Havemeyers put in a million dollars capital, and the Spreckles people another million. Two years later this money was returned to the investors, so that all the profit they subsequently took out was "velvet." Thus the tariff on sugar is shown to be a good thing—for the millionaire owners of the sugar trust.

Wilson a Leader.

Governor Wilson, of New Jersey, said during his campaign two years ago that he was not only a candidate for Governor, but if elected he would consider himself elected leader of the Democratic party.

He has been a leader not afraid to lead.

Today he speaks in unmistakable terms concerning New Jersey in the next Senate, and warns the Democrats against selecting James Smith, who in the Senate under Cleveland acted not for the Democratic party but for the protected interests. The record stands to confront James Smith, and his success would be a party disaster.

That, in substance, is what Governor Wilson says. The Democratic party is to be congratulated in having as leader a civil soldier, who is not afraid.

Why Coal is High.

A full report to disclose who is profiting from the present high price of coal is promised for the House of Representatives by the Department of Commerce and Labor in December. Secretary Nagel has designated Commissioner Charles P. Neill of the Bureau of Labor to investigate in conformity with the resolution passed by the House shortly before adjournment.

The principal object of the inquiry will be to determine how much the cost of coal to the general consumer has been increased as a result of the recent strike in the anthracite coal regions of Pennsylvania, to which field the resolution is specifically directed.

In a consideration of the resolution originally introduced by Representative Diefenderfer, of Pennsylvania, it was said in the House committee that the anthracite operators had added 25 cents a ton to the retail price.

In addition to learning how much the price of coal was increased, Commissioner Neill is expected to ascertain why and how the cost was raised.

Another line of inquiry will be to determine how much and in what particular the coal miners were benefited by the strike agreement. In support of the resolution of inquiry, it was argued that the miners received little of the increase.

Probably before the report has been compiled the Supreme Court of the United States will have handed down its decision now under consideration, as to the legal situation in the Pennsylvania anthracite coal fields. These legal questions arise out of the suit brought by the government against an alleged illegal combination of railroads and railroad coal companies, which are charged with seeking to monopolize the coal trade in violation of the Sherman anti-trust law.

Many points in the government's complaint originated in a former strike settlement about ten years ago. It has been urged at times that even in that settlement "the interest of the public was sacrificed to the interests of organized capital and of organized labor."

Popular Government.

In his speech of acceptance President Taft said the great issue before the people was the retention of "popular constitutional representative government." It never occurred to Mr. Taft that the greatest period of unrest in this country since war days has been brought about by the millionaire trust owners who, while shouting about popular government, have made a farce of common, everyday justice. The Payne-Aldrich tariff tax, which Mr. Taft signed, did more than any other one thing to make the people dissatisfied with the particular brand of popular constitutional representative government that Mr. Taft and his aides have administered.

Correct Speech.

In threading the maze of correct usage in the case of pronouns we are lost because we fail to keep in mind the relationship between the pronoun and the verb. Whenever the pronoun of the first person is the subject or part of the subject of the verb we should say "I," whenever it is the object or part of the object of the verb or a preposition we should say "me."

SUBJECT.

You and I will go.
He and I are friends.
Who rang the bell? I.
He is taller than I (am tall).
May John and I go home?
Mrs. B. and I went to town.

OBJECT.

This will please Mr. C. and me.
Between you and me, he is wrong.
Will you let John and me go?
It is for you and me.
Let you and me go to town.
Every one has gone except you and me.
—Harper's Bazar.

Controlling the Mississippi.

Regarding some method for mitigating the Mississippi river floods, the Scientific American says: "The recent outbreak of the river will serve to direct attention to a proposed method of control which we are inclined to think will prove to be the ultimate solution of the problem. We refer to the plan of providing storage reservoirs in the upper reaches of the river, in which the flood waters, due to spring rains and the melting of the snows, could be impounded, to be released in dry season for the purpose of maintaining the river at a navigable depth."

Artificial Tobacco.

Artificial tobacco leaves are now made by a process invented by a German chemist. Stems and ribs of tobacco leaves, soaked in a solution of caustic soda or potash, are separated into fibers and ground until a "sneaky mass" is obtained. This composition is fed into a paper making machine and converted into sheets, which possess all the properties of natural tobacco, and may be used in a similar manner to the natural product.

The Kaiser's Sons.

The Kaiser's sons have been brought up from the cradle like boys at a Kadettenschule, and they used to parade in uniform for their father's inspection first thing in the morning. "Remember," he once said to them, "that you are the sons of the Kaiser. But you," he added, turning sharply upon his heir, "remember that I have my eye upon you."—National Magazine.

Are the Fly and Mosquito Dangerous?

The fly, with spongy feet, collects the invisible germs of diseases, spreads them over our food and poisons us with typhoid and cholera. The mosquito with its bite injects into our veins malaria and yellow fever. The bacteria of consumption, or grip, are everywhere present for us to breathe into our lungs. The blood which flows through our veins and arteries is our protection. It should contain healthy red and white blood corpuscles—capable of warding off these disease germs. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is a blood medicine and alternative made entirely without alcohol, a pure glyceric extract of bloodroot, golden seal, Oregon grape root, quercus root, mandrake and stone root, which has enjoyed a good reputation for over forty years. The refreshing influence of this extract is like Nature's influence—the blood is bathed in the tonic which gives life to the blood—the vital fires of the body burn brighter and their increased activity consumes the tissue rubbish which has accumulated during the winter.

M. MAGUIRE, Esq.

"About forty years ago while in Newark, New Jersey, I had chills and fever," writes Mr. MAGUIRE, of National Military Home, Kans. "I went to Kansas City and in the spring of 1877 the chills and fever returned. Doctors and everything I tried failed to do me good. Finally I saw Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery advertised. I took one bottle of it and the chills vanished. In about a year afterward I felt them coming back so I got another bottle and have never had any symptoms of fever or ague since. That is all of twenty years ago, for I had the chills about twelve years before I started to take 'Golden Medical Discovery.'"

To 40,000 Burley Tobacco Growers Stockholders in Strater Bros.' Branch Factory

Here are ten brands of tobacco. All of you know their worth, for you supply the leaf. It comes from your own tobacco farms. Most of you smoke or chew one of these brands, for they represent the cream of your crops. You know of none better, none richer, and you know that each sale brings a profit to you. You are partners in each of these brands. Here's a way to increase your profits on each.

40,000 Partner-Salesmen

We want 40,000 more salesmen and you, Mr. Grower, are one that we want. We want you to work with us, to help sell these brands, and thus increase your revenue from them. Your cooperation, individually, can result in gigantic sales. Here's how it works out.

Let Each Man Tell Ten Friends

Let each of you growers tell ten friends what you know of Strater Bros. Branch Brands, the brands for which you grow the leaf. Always keep one of these brands in your pocket and give to these friends to try. Explain that the leaves were the pick of your crop and that no better crops are grown. Point out the reasons why these brands of tobacco should be every smoker's and grower's choice since it is your choicest growth. 40,000 men, each telling ten friends, will thus get a powerful sales message to nearly 400,000. If each of those friends tell five others, nearly 2,000,000 men are affected. Think what an increase this would make on these brands in one section. You are selling to us. We are selling to them. So let us work jointly to sell the utmost that we can.

Tell Dealers, Too

Tell dealers, too, when you buy these brands, what you know of their quality. Let them know of their nation-wide popularity, how they repeat, and how they make friends of consumers.

BE A BOOSTER OF BURLEY GROWERS' BRANDS, thus boosting the sales and your profits.

TO ALL DEALERS WHO SELL TOBACCO

These brands of tobacco are famous sellers as all who sell them know. They are made from the best, from the cream of the crops, from forty thousand farms. They form the greatest repeaters known, a steady source of profit. Put them into your stock for a trial and see what they do. You will sell them for years if you sell them one week.

Pains All Over!

"You are welcome," says Mrs. Nora Guffey, of Broken Arrow, Okla., "to use my letter in any way you want to, if it will induce some suffering woman to try Cardui. I had pains all over, and suffered with an abscess. Three physicians failed to relieve me. Since taking Cardui, I am in better health than ever before, and that means much to me, because I suffered many years with womanly troubles, of different kinds. What other treatments I tried, helped me for a few days only."

TAKE The CARDUI Woman's Tonic

Don't wait, until you are taken down sick, before taking care of yourself. The small aches and pains, and other symptoms of womanly weakness and disease, always mean worse to follow, unless given quick treatment.

You would always keep Cardui handy, if you knew what quick and permanent relief it gives, where weakness and disease of the womanly system makes life seem hard to bear. Cardui has helped over a million women. Try it.

The implicit confidence that many people have in Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy is founded on their experience in the use of that remedy and their knowledge of the many remarkable cures of colic, diarrhoea and dysentery that it has effected. For sale by all dealers.

Not After Cooking.

"To the pure all things are pure." "Still, I guess they would be a little doubtful if they saw the pure food at the boarding house."

If you knew of the real value of Chamberlain's Liniment for lame backs, soreness of the muscles, sprains and rheumatic pains, you would never wish to be without it. For sale by all dealers.

Thought Worth Remembering.

So long as we love we serve. So long as we are loved by others, I would almost say we are indispensable; and no man is useless while he has a friend.—Stevenson.

Repels Attack of Death.

"Five years ago two doctors told me I had only two years to live." This startling statement was made by Stillman Green, Malachite, Col. "They told me I would die of consumption. It was up to me then to try the best lung medicine and I began to use Dr. King's New Discovery. It was well I did, for today I am working and believe I owe my life to this great throat and lung cure that has cheated the grave of another victim." It is folly to suffer with coughs, colds or other throat and lung troubles now. Take the cure that's safest. Price 50 cents and $1. Trial bottle free at Oberdorfer's.

Leading to Higher Things.

Men and women are created by imparting to them noble qualities of which they are not conscious; and by giving them responsibility.

Glorious News.

comes from Dr. J. T. Curtiss, Dwight, Kas. He writes: "I not only have cured bad cases of eczema in my patients with Electric Bitters, but also cured myself by them of the same disease. I feel sure they will benefit any case of eczema." This shows what thousands have proved, that Electric Bitters is a most effective blood purifier. Its an excellent remedy for eczema, tetter, salt rheum, ulcers, boils and running sores. It stimulates kidneys liver and bowels, expels poisons, helps digestion, builds up the strength. Price 50 cents. Satisfaction guaranteed by Oberdorfer.

New Thought for the World.

Guardians of the poor are not all Bumbles. They are human beings with the ordinary warm hearts of Englishmen.—London Mail.

To Mothers and Others.

You can use Bucklen's Arnica Salve to cure children of eczema, rashes, tetter, chafings, scaly and crusted humors, as well as their accidental injuries—cuts, burns, bruises, etc., with perfect safety. Nothing else heals so quickly. For boils, ulcers, old running or fever sores or piles it has no equal. 25 cents at Oberdorfer's.

Something of a Curiosity.

Ruthie accompanied her mamma to prayer service, and during the service the hymn, "Cross and Crown," the first line of which reads, "The consecrated cross I'll bear," etc., was sung with much fervor by the congregation, when Ruthie considerably upset her mother's gravity by whispering excitedly: "Mamma, what does a cross-eyed bear look like?"

Nineteen Miles a Second

without a jar, shock or disturbance, is the awful speed of our earth through space. We wonder at such ease of nature's movement, and so do those who take Dr. King's New Life Pills. No gripping, no distress, just thorough work that brings good health and fine feelings. 25 cents at Oberdorfer's.

Dog True to Trust.

The Olympia Serenade pavilion at Nottingham, England, having been broken into three times of late, the proprietor procured an Alredale terrier. Early the other morning, as a boy dropped over the fence, the dog seized him by the trousers and held him till the arrival of the watchman, who handed him over to the police.

An article that has real merit should in time become popular. That such is the case with Chamberlain's Cough Remedy has been attested by many dealers. Here is one of them. H. W. Hendrickson, Ohio Falls, Ind., writes, "Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is the best for coughs, colds and croup, and is my best seller." For sale by all dealers.

Almost the Limit in Invention.

A log of wood and a roll of paper are placed in a new match-making machine, and when human hands next touch the material it is all bound up in packages containing one gross of boxes of matches, ready for the consumer. During the process the machine cuts the wood into proper lengths, sulphurs the ends, counts them, makes the paper boxes, prints the labels on them, fills each box and packs them. The machine has been patented by a Norwegian match company.

Running up and down stairs, sweeping and bending over making beds will not make a woman healthy or beautiful. She must get out of doors, walk a mile or two every day and take Chamberlain's Tablets to improve her digestion and regulate her bowels. For sale by all dealers.

GETTING RID OF THE FLY.

Science Has Pronounced the Death Sentence of the Pest.

Esther Barstow Hammond, writing in the General Federation Bulletin, calls attention to the imminence of the fly menace, particularly in the small towns. "When the little pests begin to swarm about our doors so thick that no amount of shooing will keep them away, when a good dinner is spoiled for us by the sight of a fly in the gravy, then we will begin to buy fly-paper and poison and traps and spend hours of each hot day swatting the little beasts and scolding the children for opening a door wide enough to squeeze through, and we'll keep right on in the same old way until frost comes. We have done it for years, and we can go on doing it for years to come, and a thousand years from now there will be just as many flies to swat as there are now, unless we change our methods.

"When we were children we were taught that the fly was a harmless little creature, 'nature's scavenger,' and, therefore, a friend to man. Even then we looked on him with aversion when we found him swimming in our milk. But now that we know that his 'scavenging' consists of collecting filth and disease germs in our outhouses and depositing them on our food, every man's hand is against him. Science has pronounced the death sentence upon him, and the only reason that his execution is delayed is because there are so many of him."

The new way is the way of prevention. Stables and refuse piles, outhouses and garbage cans are points of attack in the fly campaign. By making the breeding places inhospitably clean and sanitary, more can be accomplished in a day than in a season of swatting the fly after it has once come into existence.

PATTI'S CASTLE.

The Great Singer's Fairyland Home and Its Rare Treasures.

Adelina Patti, the Baroness Cederstrom and long famed as the world's sweetest singer, dwells in her castle of Craig-y-Nos, in south Wales, like a queen in an enchanted domain of fairyland. The castle is situated in a valley, at the foot of great rambling mountains. Its mass of buildings looks pure white in the distance. The castle is stored with rare old furniture from many countries. There are also rare collections of curious things, some of which are exhibited only to specially favored guests.

The most valuable of these is a collection of crowns, some of laurel and faded ribbons, dated back to Patti's childhood. Others are made of silver and gold, set with precious stones. One, the gift of a Russian czar, is inlaid with diamonds, rubies and emeralds. There are other wonderfully beautiful gifts from sovereigns and nobles. The whole collection is extensive and priceless.

The great singer is exceedingly fond of pets, her favorite being her Irish terrier Ginger. She has no less than seventeen beautiful parrots, all of gorgeous plumage, and many of them are still untamed, but they are all great talkers. Mme. Patti in her retirement is indeed a "Lady Bountiful." The Welsh people's love for her amounts almost to adoration.—Christian Herald.

Women's Position in Japan.

The majority of Japanese educationists hold very strongly that the chief object of female education is preparation for the duties of married life rather than general mental development and culture. To educate women to be independent and self supporting is not an ideal that most of the teachers in girls' schools ever set before them. The minds of the teachers are permeated with traditional notions respecting the sphere that woman is designed to fill in the family. Hence it is to be feared that the day is still far distant when the Japanese women will be thoroughly emancipated and have accorded to her the rights and privileges which are enjoyed by the weaker sex in the most advanced western countries.—Japan Mail.

An All Around Sort of Coat.

Frank P. Matthews of Baltimore has just received a patent for a convertible coat. It can be worn in the daytime as a frock coat or a cutaway and can be changed into an evening coat or swallowtail in a few moments. The lapels have silk facings that fold back into hidden pockets when the coat is worn in the daytime. The front parts of the skirts can be turned back and tucked away out of sight in pockets, leaving the tails hanging down when it is desired to transform it into an evening coat.—Exchange.

Made the Fish Tippy.

At Frontignan, Herault, France, recently, 700 gallons of confiscated wine were poured into a canal by the customs officers. The wine, it is said, had a very intoxicating effect on the fish, and they were easily picked out of the water by hand. The housewives refused to buy fish when they could get them themselves, and the fishermen in the district untied to protest against the action of the customs officers, but their protest was unavailing.

Wooden Ships and Icebergs.

Admiral Peary says that in some respects the old fashioned wooden ship is less vulnerable to the dangers of the sea than the huge steel liner. He once crashed into a partly submerged iceberg while going at full speed in broad daylight. "The stout little ship" (the Roosevelt), he says, "caromed off the iceberg like a billiard ball without injury. A steel ship would have had her bilge torn open from bow to quarter."

Prospects Good For Natural Gas.

That the residents of Paris will in the course of a few months be supplied with natural gas is shown in a letter received by Mayor John T. Hinton, from Mr. John Tonkin, President of the Kentucky Natural Gas Company. According to Mr. Tonkin the company desires to extend its line to this city, but fearing this cannot be done before cold weather sets in the piping is likely to be deferred until next spring. Mr. Tonkin will be here about October 8, and will take up the matter with the officials, looking toward definite action in extending the line to Paris. The letter to Mayor Hinton is as follows:

Oil Springs, Pa., Sept. 9, 1912.

Mayor J. T. Hinton, Paris, Ky.

Dear Sir:—I am in receipt of your favor of the 2d inst., and in reply, will state, that it is the intention of the Kentucky Natural Gas Company to convey gas to Paris, as we have been led to believe that the people there are very anxious for it. As stated in a communication recently to Mr. Woodford of the Bourbon Bank and Trust Company, of your city, the only question now is, whether we will succeed in building our line to West Virginia in time to assure an ample supply of gas, in addition to the towns we now have. If we can build that line in time, there will be no question about the gas, but if detained by inclement weather or other circumstances beyond our control, and cold weather sets in before the completion of that line, it would be all we could do from our present field to supply our present consumers; and while we are anxious to take gas to Paris, we are also anxious to do so when we guarantee to the citizens of your city an ample supply.

I expect to be in Kentucky about the 8th of October, at our annual meeting in Lexington, and will probably be in a shape then to take the matter up definitely, as to what we will be able to do, and will take the pleasure of calling upon you at that time, and giving you more definite information as to the possibility of our reaching you this fall. I may say, however, that if the circumstances would not warrant us to go there this fall, we certainly will be in shape to do so next spring.

Yours very truly,
JOHN TONKIN.

Paris Woman Elected an Officer.

At the biennial convention of the Ancient Order of Hibernians held in Louisville, Miss Nellie Schwartz, of Paris, was elected vice president of the State Ladies' Auxiliary.

The next convention of the order is to be held in Covington two years hence, the selection of that city being made at the last business meeting of the order held Tuesday afternoon.

Reports made to the order by committees appointed two years ago at Ashland show a decided increase in membership and a decided forward movement in the matter of education.

The Irish History Committee reported that in fifteen parochial schools, twenty high schools and ten academies Irish history is taught as general history. The growth of membership for the past two years is declared to be greater than for the seven years preceding.

Elections were held by the A. O. H. and the Ladies' Auxiliary of the order at which officials for the ensuing term of two years were named. The officers are: A. O. H., T. J. Walsh, of Louisville, president; Thomas J. Howard, of Ashland, vice president; James J. McBrean, of Covington, secretary; Phillip L. Donnelly, of Covington, treasurer. Ladies' Auxiliary: Miss Fannie Kennedy, of Louisville, president; Miss Nellie Schwartz, of Paris, vice president; Miss Lulu Murphy, of Covington, secretary; Miss Sallie Moran, of Newport, treasurer.

DEATHS.

—Mrs. Rachel Redmond, widow of the late Wm. Redmond, and one of the best known and most highly respected old women of Nicholas county, died at the home of her son-in-law, Mr. James E. Scott, near Flora, in Nicholas, of the infirmities of age. She was about eighty years of age.

BEAN.

—Dr. Bennett E. Bean, aged about 76 years, died at his home in North Middletown, Wednesday evening at 7:30 o'clock, from heart disease. Dr. Bean has been a sufferer from this disease for more than two years, and all efforts to relieve him of the trouble have been without result. For five weeks prior to his death he was at the St. Joseph Hospital, in Lexington.

Dr. Bean was the oldest practicing physician in this section of the State and has been actively engaged in his profession in this community for more than forty years. He was well known throughout the Blue Grass region as an efficient and skilled physician and was one of the pioneer residents of North Middletown.

He is survived by his wife and one son, Mr. E. B. Bean, who resides in Lexington where his headquarters as inspector for a fire insurance company is located.

The funeral services were held yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock in the North Middletown cemetery, conducted by the Rev. L. H. Reynolds and Rev. J. W. Ligon.

SHAW.

—Mr. James S. Shaw, Sr., died at his home in Louisville Tuesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock of uremic poisoning after an illness of about six weeks. Mr. Shaw was born in Bourbon county in 1845 and for thirty-eight years was in the milling business in Paris, being connected with his brother the late William Shaw, in the capacity of head miller at the milling plant of the latter in East Paris now owned and operated by the Shaw Milling Company.

Mr. Shaw retired from active life in 1887 and a few years later moved to Louisville, of which city he has been a resident for almost twenty years. His wife died about seven years ago. Mr. Shaw was the last surviving member of the Shaw family of which there were ten sisters and brothers. While a resident of Paris he with his family occupied the residence on High street adjoining that of Rev. Dr. George Varden.

He is survived by four sons—W. P. Shaw, of Los Angeles, Cal., C. F. Shaw and James S. Shaw, Jr., of Louisville, and K. S. Shaw, of Bullitt county. The first three named have been identified with the Bernheim Distilling Co., in Louisville for the past eighteen years. The surviving daughters are Mrs. C. J. Atkins, of Seattle, Wash.; Mrs. M. A. Hill, of Los Angeles, Cal., and Miss Julia Shaw, of Louisville. The funeral services were held from his late residence in Louisville yesterday morning.

MATRIMONIAL.

HARLY-KISER.

The marriage of Mr. W. S. Kiser to Miss Cordelia Harley, of Lexington, was quietly celebrated Wednesday afternoon at the Odd Fellows' Widows and Orphans home in Lexington, the Rev. Mr. Brock of the Baptist church of that city officiating.

The ceremony was performed in the presence of Judge E. B. January and Mr. Joseph Faris, Mrs. Thomas Kiser, a sister-in-law of the groom and his aunt, Mrs. Fannie Smith, who accompanied him to Lexington.

Mr. Kiser is a son of Mr. Jeff Kiser, of this county; and for several years has been in the employ of the firm of E. F. Spears & Sons of this city. He is one of the most energetic young men of the community of exceptional habits and is highly valued by his employers. He has a large number of friends in this city, and is extremely popular with all who know him.

The bride, who is a young lady of many accomplishments, handsome and attractive, has been an efficient member of the educational faculty at the Odd Fellows' Home and is a graduate of the Midway Orphans' School. During her stay at the Home she won the esteem of all with whom she came in contact. She is an exceptionally bright young woman and has a host of admiring friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Kiser left Lexington Wednesday for a short trip to Louisville, when they will return to Paris and take board with Mrs. Fannie Smith, on Fifteenth street until their new home in South Paris is completed, when they will go to housekeeping.

MORRIS—SCOTT.

—Mr. and Mrs. John C. Morris, of Lexington, have announced the engagement of their daughter, Miss Lucille Morris, to Mr. Leslie Thomas Scott, of Cleveland, Ohio. The wedding will be solemnized in the early part of November.

Trots at Mt. Sterling.

Mr. W. Hoffman Wood, who has been at work on the project for some time, announces that his efforts have been successful and that Mt. Sterling will have a three days' trotting meet this fall, says the Sentinel Democrat.

The dates selected are October 3, 4 and 5, and the meet will be held on the Montgomery County Fair Grounds. The track is one of the fastest and finest in the state and Mr. Wood has been given every assurance that some of the best stables of trotters and pacers in the country will ship there preparatory to going to Lexington for the world-famous fall meeting there. About $2,500 in purses will be hung up to be contended for by these horses and auction pools will be sold. A good band will be secured and we predict that the meet will be the first step in making Mt. Sterling a center in the trotting and pacing world.

Ex-Parisian Celebrates 90th Birthday.

The Los Angeles, Cal., Times contains the following of an ex-Parisian: "Strong and healthy and as happy as a boy let out of school for the summer vacation, Daniel Isgrig, the tallest man in Los Angeles, measuring 6 feet 8 inches in his stocking feet, celebrated his ninetieth birthday Monday at his home at 521 West Twenty-third street.

"For a man of 90 years Mr. Isgrig is a physical marvel and well preserved and expects to live to be 110 years old. Mr. Isgrig carries his ninety years and giant form with the ease and grace of a boy, but owing to a recent illness, he carries a cane.

"Regular habits and country life and an honest conscience is what I attribute my health, long life and strength to," said Mr. Isgrig yesterday, starting out on a short walk in the neighborhood.

"I was a farmer boy and had been on the farm the majority of my years. That's the only place to raise a boy and if boys and young men of today followed the good old plow instead of the gasoline eating route and late suppers at cafes, they would live a great deal longer and carry 90 years on broader shoulders and more grace than they will. Regular habits is what a boy or a young man needs. For 30 years I have gotten up at 5 o'clock in the morning regularly. I eat my breakfast at 6 o'clock, a light luncheon at 12 o'clock and through many years of practice I go to bed at eight o'clock. It is easy to go to bed early if you practice it and it has been said that the best part of a person's sleep comes between the hours of 9 and 12 o'clock in the evening. I think that that is true.

"I find difficulty in getting into some places and it seems to me that they make the doors too small and the ceilings too low every year, which gives me the impression that people are getting smaller and smaller all the time. If it keeps up it will only be a matter of a few years before they will live in doll houses and in rat traps. But maybe not that bad."

"Mr. Isgrig has been a resident of Los Angeles for 21 years. He was brought up in Paris, Kentucky, and it is claimed that among his family were the tallest people in the State. When quite young he met, through a friend, Abraham Lincoln, and when they measured back to back Mr. Isgrig was just a head taller than the president. He has met Tom Thumb and Miss Minnie Warren and many of the smallest people in the United States."

Mr. Isgrig is a great uncle of Mr. Dan Isgrig, who resides in East Paris and also an uncle of Mr. William Isgrig, who died at his home near this city about two weeks ago.

Brokers Barred from Handling Stock.

The Associated Publishers Company has issued a letter to all of its stockholders, many of whom are in this city, to the effect that the stocks of the company will not be handled by brokers or brokerage firms. The company is expecting an attempt on the part of brokers of the larger cities to secure control of some of the stock and the letter, sent out as a warning to stockholders, is as follows:

"In line with our announced policy, of keeping in constant touch with our stockholders, we want to call your attention to the practice of certain unscrupulous brokers, who are to be found operating in all large cities.

"We have met with such success in our financing that, knowing their methods, we expect that they will attempt their nefarious game at any time.

"In the first place, our stock is only sold through our own representatives, who carry both 'Bradstreet' and 'Dun' introductions. We have not, nor will we at any time in the future, offer our stock through brokers. This is final.

"There are so called brokers in all large cities who are constantly on the alert for an opportunity to profit through the financing of new companies. The usual plan is to secure a list of stockholders. In our case this would be comparatively easy, as we furnish our list to our chain of papers for the benefit of our stockholders. If they obtain our list through some nefarious method, the so called brokers then attempt to 'hold us up,' demanding an option on a block of our stock, at a much reduced figure. We, of course, would refuse. They would then attempt to bring us to a more pliable frame of mind, by writing to a few of our stockholders offering, for instance, one hundred shares at 50 cents on the dollar, SUBJECT TO PRIOR SALE. The concluding phrase is their safeguard; when called on to deliver they always reply, THE STOCK HAS BEEN SOLD, or they perhaps, in fact, buy stock from one of our stockholders and resell same at a loss in order to create a panicky feeling and consequent demoralization of our stockholders. Should you receive such letters, you can best serve your company's interest by sending us all such correspondence.

"We want to say that you may feel proud of the progress we are making. We are having strong support from our stockholders. This is as it should be. By pulling hard for our joint interests, we can surpass the expectations of the most sanguine of our enthusiastic management, as well as our stockholders.

"With assurance that the management will work hard for the best results for us all, we are,
Very truly yours,

Card of Thanks.

The members of the Woman's Society of the Christian church met with great success with their dinner served during the Bourbon Fair. The patronage was liberal, the donations generous. They wish to thank the directors of the fair for courtesies extended, to the editors of the Paris papers for notice given, to those who so freely contributed and to those who assisted. A nice sum of money was cleared which will be used for charitable purposes during the winter.

An article that has real merit should in time become popular. That such is the case with Chamberlain's Cough Remedy has been attested by many dealers. Here is one of them. H. W. Hendrickson, Ohio Falls, Ind., writes, "Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is the best for coughs, colds and croup, and is my best seller." For sale by all dealers.

RELIGIOUS.

—The congregation of the Washington street Presbyterian church in Winchester has extended a unanimous call to Rev. J. Russell Crawford, of Columbia, to assume the pastorate of the church.

—"How the Christian May Express the Lordship of Jesus," is the subject of Rev. E. M. Lightfoot, at the Baptist church next Sunday morning at 10:45 o'clock. At 7:30 p. m. he will preach on "Beginning Over Again." The Sunday school and Baraca Class meet every Sunday morning at 9:30 a. m. All are cordially invited to these services.

Georgetown Men Inspect Streets

Mayor Thomas J. Fennell, of Georgetown, accompanied by several members of the city council of that city, were in Paris yesterday looking over the streets of the city and inspecting the road building machinery used in the construction of the thoroughfares here.

The delegation from Georgetown has been making trips to several of the adjoining cities with a view of getting the methods of street building employed by their neighbors and were taken all over Paris by Mayor Hinton.

The visitors highly complimented the Paris streets and stated they were the best of any of the towns they had visited in Central Kentucky. The grades were the most interesting to the visitors, and the methods employed in street building in Paris will probably be adopted by Georgetown.

A visit was made to the city quarry where an inspection of the rock crusher and other machinery was made.

Conference Appointments.

The congregation of the Methodist Church and the Paris people in general will be pleased to learn that Rev. J. S. Sims, the popular pastor of the church here, has been returned to Paris for another year.

The ninety-second annual Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, closed Monday, after a six-days' session, at Danville. The meeting was presided over by Bishop James H. McCoy, of Birmingham, and was one of the most enthusiastic ever held in the State.

The following preachers were ordained elders Sunday afternoon by Bishop McCoy, assisted by the other elders: Price Turner Smith, Josephus Barnett Harris, Robert Napoleon Bush, William Robert Johnson and John Edwin Moss.

The first business of the Conference Monday was the assessment for the American Bible Society. It has been the custom of the Conference voluntarily to assess itself for the support of this society. It was moved and carried that no assessment be made next year, but that a collection be taken in every congregation for the support of the society.

A resolution of appreciation was offered by Dr. E. G. B. Mann for the evangelistic services rendered by C. F. Wimberly and Dr. H. C. Morrison. The resolution was unanimously adopted.

It was moved and carried by a small majority that the Bishop appoint a committee of three to investigate as to the facts and results of the women having the rights of the laity in connection with the church, and to report at the next annual conference session. Dr. E. L. Southgate, Dr. John R. Deering and Rev. T. M. Watts were made members of the committee.

Following is the list of the assignments of ministers:

Got Back at the Judge.

A celebrated engineer, being examined at a trial where both the judge and counsel tried in vain to browbeat him, made use in his evidence of the expression, "the creative power of a mechanic," on which the judge rather tartly asked him what he meant by "the creative power of a mechanic." "Why, my lord," said the engineer, "I mean that power which enables a man to convert a goat's tail into a judge's wig."

Growers Talk of 1913 Cut Out.

A writer in the Owenton News Herald says "Tobacco growers from various sections of the State are talking strongly of a cut out or the next crop. Owen county growers have already had one meeting, and the sentiment in that county is almost unanimous for the movement.

"Influential men from Woodford county and Scott county have given their hearty approval to the proposition. Many Fayette growers on the street here Monday said it was the only thing to do if the farmers expected a reasonable price for their crops.

"It is pointed out that the Louisville Tobacco Warehouse Company is planning to own all the loose leaf markets, and their control is regarded as a dangerous menace to the trade. The trust is as much in evidence today as it was before the government attempted to dissolve it. There is little or no competition today in the Louisville and Cincinnati markets among the branches into which the old American Company was dissolved, and prices have gone steadily downward since last March.

"Friends of the farmers realize that if the cut out movement is to be successful, it must be agitated now before the 1912 crop changes hands. If the movement is a success, of course the growers will add several cents a pound to their price, and hold their tobacco till they get it.

"No definite information is obtainable as to the nature of the campaign to be waged, but it is said some movement along this line is sure to be started in all the counties in the near future."

Isgrig Heirs Divide Estate.

To carry out the wishes of the deceased expressed verbally a short time before his death, the heirs of the late William Isgrig, who died at his home near Paris on September 2, met Tuesday morning and agreed to divide the property as specified by their deceased relative.

Mr. Isgrig left no will but told the family a short time before his death what he desired each one to have, and they have made a satisfactory settlement of the estate by which his son, Mr. Sweeney Isgrig, receives the home place containing 150 acres, located on the Peacock pike.

The daughter, Mrs. Lisle Jacoby received 100 acres on the Clay and Kiser pike and 50 acres adjoining the home place. The widow, Mrs. Kate Isgrig, has been generously provided for and will reside at the old home place with Mr. Sweeney Isgrig.

The heirs had the agreement reduced to writing and also agreed to the appointment of Mr. Daniel Isgrig, of Paris, as administrator of the estate.

Switchman's Foot Crushed.

As the result of an accidental fall in which he was thrown beneath the wheels of the yard engine in the south yards of the L. & N. railroad, in this city, Wednesday night about 10 o'clock, Edgar Daugherty had one foot so badly crushed that amputation was necessary.

Daugherty, who was employed as a switchman in the railroad yards, was stationed at the Claysville underpass. The yard engine with a cut of cars was passing, and Daugherty, crossing the track over the underpass, stepped on a loose plank as he was about to mount the pilot of the engine. He was thrown beneath the pony trucks and his left foot crushed to a pulp.

A special train was made up and he was hurried to the St. Joseph Hospital, in Lexington, where, after an examination, it was found necessary to amputate the injured member at the ankle. From the last reports he is resting easy.

Daugherty, whose home is in Corbin, is aged about 22 years, and has been in the employ of the company as switchman for about three months. He boarded with Mr. C. G. Lykins, on South Main street.

DR. DOLLE'S MESSAGE TO MEN
YOU CAN BE CURED BY

16 YEARS

IN CINCINNATI

Why Take Treatment That Is Doing You No Good. When a Few Days under the care of Dr. Dolle Will Show You How Easy It Is to Cure These Diseases When the Proper Treatment Is Administered.

Have you treated for months and years, and been disappointed until you think that you cannot be cured? You, no doubt, all this time have been treated by inexperienced doctors who had neither sufficient knowledge nor experience to know how to cure you.

These are the diseases of which I have cured so many, justly giving me the reputation for cures of which I am so proud.

Blood Diseases, Skin Diseases

I will give you treatment that will in a few days cure all rash, spots and every skin symptom. My treatment gets the poison out of the system instead of driving it in like ordinary treatments. I cure blood diseases and skin disease so they cannot come back.

Varicose, causing aching or pain in groin or back, Nervousness, Weakness, Loss of Vitality, Lack of Ambition—

My one-treatment cure is what you should have and what you will have to have to be cured right. Only one visit is required. I do no cutting and you suffer no pain or trouble. All signs disappear in a few days.

Nervous Troubles, Lost Vitality

My combined treatment for these troubles is common among those who have become weak and worn out, who have caused it by folly, dissipation and excesses, is remarkably good. No one believes how quickly it benefits until they have taken it.

It overcomes weakness, nervousness, pain in back, lack of energy, ambition and strength—it's just the treatment I have found so effective in treating such diseases.

Kidney and Bladder Troubles are scientifically cured by me. My methods immediately benefit you, and the majority of cases I cure come from physicians and specialists who failed.

Piles, Fistulae—I can cure you so quickly and easily that you will be surprised. I will give you just the result and cure you are looking for without a surgical operation.

Acute Diseases—Ichthy, Burning strong drug store remedies seldom cure. My treatment stops every symptom and cures in a few days. It is scientific—that's the only sure way to be cured so it will not come back.

You can take my Treatment without a cent and pay me afterwards. I know that I can give you new life, new hope, and can restore you back to health and happiness. I know that every man will pay after I have eliminated every trace of disease from his system.

Microscopical and analytical urinalysis FREE. I have written a book that ought to be in the hands of every suffering man in this country. I will send you a copy, free, if you will write me at once the disease for which you desire treatment.

Hours, 9 to 4; Sundays, 10 to 1 p. m. Evenings, 7 to 9 on Monday, Wednesday and Saturday nights.

Serenading Felicia

An Interruption That Only Delayed His Love Story.

By OTHO B. SENG.

"Run out, children; run out and play," coaxed Felicia, "shooing" them along with the skirt of her pretty gown.

"You come, too, Aunt Fannie," begged Jimmie. "You said you'd play today."

"I'm going to be very busy this morning, Jimmie," evaded Felicia.

"Going to try on?" cried Gladys ecstatically. "Oh, do let me stay!"

"I'm not going to 'try on,' Gladys. It isn't the dressmaker who is coming," Felicia smiled happily.

The brown eyes of Bobby the adorable opened wider and then narrowed knowingly. "You goin' to have p'tic'lar company?" he demanded.

Felicia's joyous laugh rang out sweetly. "Yes, Bobby, very particular company."

"I'll bet anything it's Mr. Parker," grumbled Jimmie. "I don't want to go away if it is."

"Oh, let us stay!" cried Gladys, jumping up and down. "Mr. Parker 'll want to see us. He always does. You know, Aunt Fannie," argumentatively, "he said the other day he was very fond of children."

"Yes, I know," hurriedly, "he is fond of children—good children, obedient children!"

"Then we'll t'tay," agreed Donald placidly.

"Of course," assented Gladys and Jimmie with one accord, seating themselves on the steps with cheerful alacrity.

"Come on, Bob," Jimmie added patronizingly.

But the adorable one stood aloof, regarding Felicia with gravely reproachful eyes. "Has he got somepin' p'tic'lar to say to you?" frigidly.

Felicia laughed and blushed rosily. "I think so, Bobby," gently. "Now, Jimmie," coaxingly, "you are the oldest—you ought to set the others a good example. Take them away and have them play something. I want to talk with Mr. Parker a little while, and then perhaps we'll play."

Jimmie rose grandly. "I'm most nine," importantly. "I'll boss the others. Come on, kids."

He stopped and turned to his pretty aunt with masculine superiority. "But if you're smart you won't keep Mr. Parker shut up in that dark parlor very long. I bet he druther play 'tim-buktu.' Come on, Bob. What you standin' there for?"

Felicia paused on the steps and looked back apprehensively. The adorable one stood in the path, his feet planted wide apart, his hands thrust into the pockets of the recently acquired trousers and a faraway look upon his beautiful face that somehow filled Felicia's heart with foreboding. Had she known Bobby better she might have feared less—or more! She ran down the steps and laid a detaining hand on Jimmie's arm.

"Jimmie, dear," she whispered impressively, "remember that Bobby is your guest, and you must do everything you can to make him happy."

"All right," gruffly, still with a sense of being defrauded. "Come, Bobby."

"Go with the others, Bobby," coaxed Felicia alluringly; "they will show you their pets."

He brought his heaven turned eyes down to her face.

"Some day," he breathed sweetly, "I shall give you a Sarah Nade."

"So you shall, Bobby," gratefully, "whenever you wish."

Bobby skipped away, and Felicia ran singing up the steps.

"Isn't it sweet of him?" she thought. "I never heard him sing except that once at All Saints'. I don't wonder they call him the adorable one! Such a lively thought, to give me a serenade!"

"This is my dog," introduced Jimmie proudly. "His name is Bunch o' Brightness, but we call him Bunch for every day. Get your cat, Glad. Glad's cat is a blue ribboner!"

The big, fluffy Persian was brought out for the admiration of the guest, who regarded it with coldly critical eyes.

"Where's Don's pet?"

"It's a parrot," explained Gladys. "He's in the house—in a cage. When we got Fluff we had to shut the parrot up, 'cause he wanted to pick Fluff's eyes out."

"You order hear the parrot talk!" cried Jimmie. "He can say 'Now's the time,' 'Go it, old boy,' and I'll bet on you' plain as I can."

"Let's bring him out," tempted the adorable one. "and look at all three together and see which is the nicest."

"Oh, we can't!" cried Gladys hastily. "If they should fight Aunt Fannie would be most scared to death."

The back of the adorable one is turned squarely upon the timorous Gladys. "Girls," wistfully, "are always scared!"

"I guess we'd better, Glad," said Jimmie slowly. "She said do everything we could to make Bobby happy."

"We'll make everybody happy," answered Bobby serenely. "We'll give her a Sarah Nade!"

"What's a Sarah Nade?"

"He means lemonade," interposed Gladys, anxious for reinstatement. "I'll help make it."

"No, it's a Sarah Nade—singing and—bringing gifts. You make a p'cession and have your pets for gifts, and we'll all sing."

"Can't we dress up?" The girl never wanders far from her wardrobe.

"Now!" in concert from the three masculines.

"Oh, I mean play dress up," pleaded Gladys. "I'll put on one of mamma's dress skirts, and Jimmie can put on papa's coat."

"Has it got tails?" The possibilities of the proposal appeal to the adorable one.

"I can find one with tails," eagerly—"two tails."

"All right. Can't you put a skirt on, Don? Then there'll be two ladies and two gentlemen in the Sarah Nade."

Don objected, but his minority vote was not recorded, and twenty minutes later the procession stole noiselessly up the steps and opened the door into the cool, dark hall.

Don, bearing the bellicose parrot, staggered patiently up the front of his mother's new tailored skirt; Gladys, with Fluff's claws digging wildly into her bare arms, switched the train of a pale blue foulard; Jimmie held his hand over the quivering jaws of the anxious Bunch and divided his attention between the trailing silk draperies in front of him and the two tails that dragged the ground at his rear.

The adorable one, walking somewhat remotely, bore no indication of any participation in the proceedings.

Don pushed aside the portiere at the parlor door.

"In a Sarah Nade," the manager had explained before starting, "every one sings the things he likes best. Just as quick as we reach the curtains all begin!"

Don was like the heroes at Balaklava—not his to question why. He poked himself into the dim, sweet smelling room and opened his mouth in a doleful howl. Gladys pushed in close behind him, shrilly yelling; Jimmie planted both feet firmly on the blue foulard and gruffly vociferated in an imitation bass.

Their entrance was evidently not happily timed. An athletic young man sprang to his feet with a smothered exclamation, and Felicia was silent from sheer consternation.

Don's next step, gasping "Where the love in your eyes I could see," was inimical to renewals of any sort. Being born under Cancer, his movements were usually sidewise and crablike, and the clinging broadcloth skirt added to his uncertainty of balance. He fell heavily, and his chubby foot and legs upset the shrieking Gladys and bowed the valiant rug and bone vander on top of his suffering sister.

Gladys in falling grasped despairingly at the legs of the astonished Parker and brought him to his knees on the howling heap.

Poll escaped from Don's clutches and instituted a severe investigation of every leg, arm or body within reach of her vicious beak, clamoring incessantly: "Go it, old boy! Now's the time! I'll bet on you!" Bunch o' Brightness showed his fighting blood in violent attacks on Poll and the howling Persian.

The man disentangled himself angrily and turned to the now hysterical girl. "I suppose you call this funny, Miss Austin, but I must confess my idea of a joke fails to coincide with yours."

He stepped grimly over the struggling mass, kicked Bunch—not gently—and with apparent relish cuffed the squeaking parrot.

"Glad tidings of great joy I bring," sang a seraphic voice as Parker strode into the hall. The adorable one was standing in his most admired Sunday pose, his hands loosely clasped before him and his beautiful face turned upward. He smiled beatifically into Parker's face and completed his carol.

"Did she like it?" with sweet solicitude. "Did she like the Sarah Nade?"

"Bobby," sternly, "who put up this job, and what is it for?"

"Me," proudly. "We wanted to Sarah Nade her."

From the parlor came a pitiful sob and then a shrill, insistent, childish voice. "Did he say, Aunt Fannie—did he say that p'tic'lar thing he came to say?"

Parker went back.

"I didn't, Gladys, but I'm going to now. I won't be driven off so easily."

And, to the astonishment of the serenaders, he took Aunt Fannie in his arms, whispering swift, passionate words that brought back the sweet flush to her cheeks and a tremulous, happy smile to her lips.

Caustic Wit of an Indian.

Senator Warren tells it. A young man got married, moved to Wyoming from the middle west and took up a large tract of land, on Warren's recommendation, near the Shoshone reservation. A number of the more educated Indians in the neighborhood worked for him by the day from time to time. One morning he was called away to be gone all day, and his young wife, being timid, locked herself in the house.

An Indian came and knocked on the door, seeking employment, but the wife, thinking of stories she had read in her school history of Indian outrages, feared to open the door. At last she compromised by raising an upstairs window a couple of inches and inquiring what the man wanted.

"You act frightened," observed the Indian after learning that her husband wasn't around.

"Yes; I feel a little timid," admitted the woman.

"You needn't be," said the Indian earnestly. "There isn't a white man within ten miles."—Philadelphia Ledger.

Art of the Future.

Commenting on the eccentricities of the "futurist" art exhibition in Berlin, Lustige Blatter says: "At last we know the true standard by which to judge great paintings. If you can tell what a picture means when you look at it, it is no work of art."

"TO THE LEAST"

SHALL BE GIVEN

By ADA WILKERSON.

Ever since Joshua died Mary Ann Penrose had been saving up to buy a new altar cloth for the church.

Joshua was Mary Ann's husband, and he had been dead ten years. In life Joshua had been a great trial to his wife. He was a carpenter, and a good carpenter, when they were married. He had built their little home himself, and presented it to Mary Ann on her wedding day.

"That's how I come to still own it," she said the day she told me about the altar cloth.

"Josh would a' sold it long ago if it hadn't been all mine. He hit me once, when he was in liquor, 'cause I wouldn't sign it over to him so he could sell it. But I wouldn't. I was always firm in that, no matter how much Josh wanted money for pain killer."

"The place where he busted his shoulder once when he fell off a scaffold always hurt in damp weather, an' Josh just naturally took to drinkin' to ease the pain. It's a blessin' the Lord never sent us any children. He would a' sold the clothes off their backs fer drink. But when he was himself he always said he wouldn't ever take my home away from me."

"Goodness knows I had a hard enough time to save money for the taxes. I used to keep it in the old brass teapot I kept 'way back in the corner of the cupboard, an' he never once thought of lookin' there."

"But since he's been dead I miss him. Poor old Josh! He was a good husband, an' I always wanted to give somethin' to the church as a memorial. I thought about one of them fancy winders, but they cost too much, so I settled on an altar cloth, white satin, all worked in gold, like the old one, only lots nicer, with more gold and some pieces of glass that look like jewels."

"I saw one once, when I was visitin' in the city, an' I have my mind set on one like it."

"It would just do me good to set in Grace Chapel every Sunday an' see one of them handsome white and gold cloths hangin' over the pulpit."

"I had money fer it all saved up—a hundred and fifty dollars—in the teapot. Teapots is safer than banks. An' I was a-goin' to go to the city to git the new fixin's, when along come that poor, forlorn woman, Mrs. Quick, sellin' buttons and thread, lace, darnin' cotton and needles she had in a basket. She told me she had tramped all the way from the city. Her husband was killed workin' on the railroad, and she was tryin' to git money to buy her baby some clothes."

"Poor soul! She was staggerin' sick when she come to my door. I just had to take her in—she was a nice, clean little woman, too—an' so white an' miserable lookin'."

"Of course, I had to git the doctor; but he couldn't do nothin' to save her—she hadn't had nourishin' food or the right kind of livin' for so long. Her strength was all gone."

"Both of us did everything we could, and Miss Artman come over to help, but it wasn't any use. Doctor said the baby had taken all his mother's vitality—an' you ought to see what a husky little fellow he is. He's asleep now, but when he wakes up I'll let you hold him a while. He's just as pretty and bright!"

"His mother give him to me before she passed away, an' said she wanted him named for his father—David—so I have named him David Joshua Quick."

"It took all the altar cloth money for medicine for the mother and clothes for little David—and the funeral; but Josh, he'll understand that my memorial to him will be the up-bringin' of the livin' child, 'stead of the altar cloth."

"Last Sunday I went to church early, before anybody else was there—and I told the Lord how I had to use the money I saved to decorate his house. And it seemed as I knelt there and looked at that old cloth a-hangin' over the pulpit that the gold looked brighter and better than it had fer a long time, and it seemed when I had finished tellin' my story to the Lord, it seemed I could hear a whisper through the silence, like the tress outside the window were a-whisperin' together, and it seemed like it said: 'Inasmuch as thou hast done it unto one of the least of these my children, thou hast done it unto me.'"

"So, I guess the Lord understands, too."

Drew the Line.

Pat had been at work for three days digging a well, and as the foreman wanted it finished within the week he had promised Pat another man to help him. It was getting on for eleven o'clock, and Towser, the foreman's bulldog, was looking over the edge of the pit, when Pat said to himself: "I'll have a smoke."

He had just filled his pipe, and was about to light it, when he glanced up and beheld Towser's handsome features.

Slowly removing the pipe from his mouth, he said: "Be-e-egorra, Ol've wor-kerd wid Germans and Hengarrrians, and Ol've wor-kerd wid Ottalians and niggers, but if a man wid a face like that comes down here to work beside me Ol gets up."

The Way to Date.

"You say you hope to become engaged to a suffragette?"

"Well, I'm going to submit the question to a referendum consisting of her two sisters and her parents."

IN THE CLUTCHES OF GOLF FRENZY

"There is nothing else so sad," declared the woman who had the floor, "as to view a strong man in the clutches of that perfidious disease, the golf fever. He becomes as a small boy who runs home joyously to relate how he played 'keeps' and won all the marbles from the other small boys, or else wants comfort because they won his marbles."

"After a successful afternoon at his club Edward returns to his family so excited that he doesn't know whether the dish before him is pickled doormats or porterhouse steak. He begins talking at once, while I sit waiting for a break in his talk, so that I can ring for more butter or ask for water, and while the children hold on to their chairs by main force, starving to death because he has forgotten to serve them, and they know papa must not be interrupted when he is talking."

"Yes," Edward says, "I licked 'em today! Never saw such a score." (Business of fishing score card from pocket.) "Why, the third and sixth and seventh I made in two less than bogey—think of it, two less! And the first and fourth and the next three over the twelfth I did in bogey and the others in just one over—no, by Jove, I did the nineteenth in less than bogey, too!"

"Why?" I murmur. "That was a score, certainly! Will you pass—"

"Hopkins plays a close game," Edward proceeds cheerily. "I had to look sharp to win over him. I thought I was lost when he did that 220-yard drive at the third hole, and if I do say it, I'm strong on driving!"

"Yes, you are, dear," I agree, brightly. "Will you please give Eddie some of the—"

"The committee ought to have the long grass on the tenth mowed," Edward breaks in, fiercely. "It's a disgrace to the club! The caddies deliberately lose the balls in that grass. I nearly reported my caddy today—paid no attention to the game at all. I made a fine drive and he was looking the other way! I—"

"Boo-ho-o-o!" some one of the children walls when hunger grows unendurable. Then Edward peers about him unseeing and wants to know what on earth ails Eddie or Jane. I suggest that if they get a share of the dinner they may feel better.

"Sometimes I go out to the club to join Edward for dinner. If you are on the terrace when the golfers come in, hot and grimy and disheveled after their round, you get it full force. You see two men sawing the air and shouting like a political convention and getting purple in the face and acting as though they were just waiting to be dared to jump at each other and claw and scratch. But all in the world that is happening is that one of them is explaining why he lost a stroke at seventh hole and the other is insisting that he should by good rights have lost two if he had scored correctly. Or, maybe one of them is saying the green at the eleventh hole slopes up and the other is declaring that it slopes down."

"I admire the reserve force in a golfer. He will tramp five miles under a sun that would fry eggs, using up good muscle swatting a ball around, and arrive at the club looking as though he was going to die of apoplexy, if not just plain exhaustion. As you wildly start to bring him first aid to the injured another golfer in like condition makes some remark to which he objects and then they're off at a mile a minute gait, arms whirling like windmills, quarreling over the best way to get a ball out of the gully behind the twelfth green."

"The winners are the worst. They take a shower and put on their nicest clothes and prance up and down all that evening, explaining just how bad the other fellows were. Golf is the only game in which it is sportsmanlike to run down your opponent. It is really expected of you and if you don't do it you are instantly suspected of being no gentleman."

"Still, I approve of golf clubs—they're such nice places to go for a dinner on a hot night when your cook has left!"—Chicago Daily News.

Culture.

Culture may be divided into three classes: Musical, literary and artistic.

Musical culture is made up of motifs, money and half-nakedness. In its most virulent form it is seen at grand opera.

Literary culture consists of equal parts of rhapsody, hysterics, toadyism and simple mania. It is incurable in extreme cases. In the case of young women, a sudden marriage sometimes works wonders.

Artistic culture is divided into realistic, impressionistic and mystic. In the realistic we see things as we think they are; in the impressionistic, as we hope they never will be; in the mystic, we look mysterious and frankly admit that it would be no earthly use to impart to common minds our own superior opinions.—Lippincott's.

Deserted!

One member of the motor car party was very tired. He did not alight at the last two or three controls and presently was dead to the world. When he woke up he found himself on the back seat alone and with a red lamp glaring at him fiercely.

"Fine thing," he was heard to say. "Left alone on a railroad track and with an engine almost on top of me."

The lamp indicated a boulevard turn and the others of the party were putting on a new tire.

Marking Keys.

If you have a number of keys to the stable, shed, henhouse and such buildings that look and feel about alike, put wooden tags on them with one notch for the stable, two notches for the henhouse, etc. You can tell at a glance, then, or by feeling them if it is dark, which key is the right one.

NOTICE.

Good Qualities.

He alone is worthy of respect who knows what is of use to himself and others, and who labors to control his self-will. Each man has his own fortune in his hands; as the artist has a piece of rude matter, which he is to fashion to a certain shape. But the art of living rightly is like all arts; the capacity alone is born with us; it must be learned, and practiced with incessant care.

You Want the Best—
Not the Cheapest

Flanders "20" Roadster, $750

Don't be alarmed if somebody tells you you can buy an automobile for less money than the $750 Studebaker-Flanders "20." You can, but you better not. The Flanders "20" corresponds point by point with the best and highest priced cars sold. Cheaper cars at every vital point are built on ideas long ago discarded for good cars. Don't take our word for it. Make comparisons and see.

The Studebaker-Flanders "20" is a marvel—a high grade modern car at a low price. If you pay less you buy much less. And the cheaper car today will cost you far more in the long run. The competing car isn't sold which the Studebaker Corporation, the greatest automobile manufacturers in the world, couldn't reproduce for less money; but we won't build a cheap car, because the name "Studebaker" means the best for your money.

If you are content with a car that runs today and dies tomorrow, don't buy the $750 Flanders "20." It will wear for years. Remember this—the Studebaker-Flanders "20" will outwear 2 to 1 any other car under $1100 and give you double satisfaction, confidence and comfort into the bargain.

The M. F. C. and the M. M. I. opened Thursday with a good enrollment. Students and teachers began arriving as early as Tuesday evening and every train Wednesday brought others. The outlook is encouraging. There are many who will not come before the first of the week. Both schools bid fair to be large. The Public School opened Monday with an enrollment of 49.

Rev. W. A. Swift returned Tuesday from the conference of the M. E. church, South, at Danville. It will be remembered that he was appointed traveling editor of the Central Methodist Advocate. He will continue his residence in Millersburg if a suitable house can be found. If not he will go to Lexington. He will determine early next week as to his future home, as Rev. J. D. Redd, the newly appointed pastor, will arrive at that time.

Nineteen Miles a Second

without a jar, shock or disturbance, is the awful speed of our earth through space. We wonder at such ease of nature's movement, and so do those who take Dr. King's New Life Pills. No gripping, no distress, just thorough work that brings good health and fine feelings. 25 cents at Oberdorfer's.

Man Really Useful.

For certain equable, continuous modes of life, there is nothing more than judgment necessary, and we study to attain nothing more; so we become unable to discern what extraordinary services each vulgar day requires of us; or, if we do discern them, we find abundance of excuses for not doing them. A judicious man is valuable to himself, but of little value for the general whole.—Goethe.

STOCK, CROP AND FARM NOTES.

—Mr. H. S. Caywood, of North Middletown, has been in Clark where he has purchased several mule colts from parties in that county at prices ranging from $150 to $175 per head.

—John Crockett, of Sharpsburg, purchased last week from Bourbon farmers 19 head of suckling mules for which he paid an aggregate sum of $18,860, or nearly $100 per head.

—The Carlisle Advocate says: "Roy Smith claims the honor on fancy peaches for the season. He says he weighed 24 that tipped the scales at 17 pounds. He says they were so large that it was impossible to put them in a pint cup."

—Mr. W. G. McClintock purchased yesterday from Mr. W. B. Woodford thirty-five head of export cattle which averaged 1460 pounds and for which he paid 7 1-2 cents per pound. The cattle were in prime condition for export and the sum involved in the purchase was $3,907.50.

—The entire State is threatened with a milk famine on account of the shortage of dairy cows. The cause of the shortage is that dealers and farmers are keeping but a few cows on hand, because of the law requiring the tuberculin test for all dairy cows, and also said that the present high price of beef makes the value of cows greater for slaughtering purposes than for dairy use.

—A writer in the Stanford Journal is the first of the season to come out with a prediction as to the turkey crop. He says: "The turkey crop in Central Kentucky will be unusually light this season, and it is very easily seen to be growing smaller each year. Recent census reports compared with those of former decades, showing that our holiday bird will soon be extinct."

—The Board of Regents of the Eastern Kentucky Normal School has closed a deal with Lem Whitaker by which the institution has bought his farm of 112 acres within three miles of Richmond and considered one of the best pieces of land in Madison county, as the site of a training farm for boys in connection with their other courses at the school. The price paid was about $167 an acre.

—A report to the United States Department of Commerce and Labor from Consul Harry A. Conant, at Windsor, Ontario, contains much interesting information regarding the culture of tobacco in that section of Canada. The growing of tobacco is fast becoming an important industry, and is rapidly proving a formidable rival to corn, which formerly led in Essex county. Many farmers on Pelee Island planted 5 to 12 acres of tobacco last year as a measure of self protection, and had it not been for this crop would have suffered financially owing to the exceptionally dry weather.

—Tobacco cutting and housing is engaging the attention of Bourbon growers and will continue to be the order of the day for several weeks to come, some of the late crop not being ready to handle before the first of October. The weather has been ideal for the work not a rain having fallen to cause delay and the hot sun being just what is needed to ripen and mature the weed. The quality of tobacco produced in Bourbon this year is the finest ever seen and the acreage will bring the total to the annual average of nine million pounds. Tobacco that has been housed is curing rapidly and the stripping of many early crops will proceed in the next two weeks.

—CARLISLE COURT—September court at Carlisle was a busy one and a very large crowd was in town. It was thought the crowd would be small on account of tobacco cutting but this had little effect. There were about 200 mule and horse colts on the market but not many sales were reported as there was not much demand for them. Known buyers seemed to be a little backward. The price paid was from $45 to $75, with some few sales reaching as high as $115. Charles Hamilton, of North Middletown, bought of Calvin Crouch an extra fine four year old combined horse at 200. Claude Hamilton sold an extra fine 3 year old harness horse to Chas Hamilton for $200.

—The cereal crops of the country from present indications will reach the unprecedented total production of 133,016,000 tons, according to the statistics of the Government Agricultural Bureau. With record breaking crops of corn, spring wheat, oats, barley, rye and buckwheat, the year's harvest will be 20.3 per cent greater than the big year of 1910 and 16.2 greater than that of 1909.

Prospects for the record breaking potato crop indicate it will be 39 per cent more than last year, when the crop was very short, 14 per cent more than in 1910 and 2 per cent more than in 1909 when the previous record production was harvested. The hay yield is estimated at about 31 per cent more than last year and 4 per cent more than in 1910 and 1909.

August, like July was decidedly favorable for crop development throughout the country. Department of Agriculture officials declare. They figure the composite condition of all crops on September 1 as being about 16.5 per cent better than at that time a year ago and 4.1 per cent better than the average condition on September 1 in recent years.

An Epigram.

Strength of Man and Horse.

The strength of five men is equivalent to that of one horse.

To Mothers and Others.

You can use Bucklen's Arnica Salve to cure children of eczema, rash, teething, chafing, scaly and crusty humors, as well as their accidental injuries—cuts, burns, bruises, etc., with perfect safety. Nothing else heals so quickly. For boils, ulcers, old running or fever sores or piles it has no equal. 25 cents at Oberdorfer's.

Council Proceedings.

The City Council met last evening with Mayor Hinton presiding and all members of the Council present except Dr. Kenney. Little business of importance was transacted. There was some discussion as to the bad condition of gas lights. Messrs. Baldwin and Parrish were instructed to investigate and find where the trouble was. Several building permits were granted.

The police were instructed to enforce the ordinance pertaining to the speed of automobiles.

The following is the report of Police Judge E. B. January for the months of June, July and August: Fines assessed, $534; fines reprieved, $53; amount of cash collected, 18.90; amount suspended, $168.50; amount pardoned $50; amount worked out, $81; amount appealed, $56.

Horse and Wagon Recovered.

On last Friday Mr. K. M. Gilkey, of North Middletown, rented a road wagon and horse to a man who gave his name as George Hayes, and his place of residence as Athens, Fayette county. The man represented himself as being a cattle buyer and was last seen Friday afternoon, about 2 o'clock going in the direction of Winchester. Upon his failure to return the conveyance and horse, Mr. Gilkey sent a description of the man and rig to the Winchester police and Wednesday afternoon the horse and wagon were found ten miles east of Winchester. Mr. Gilkey was notified yesterday morning of the recovery of his property and he went to Winchester to claim it. Hayes disappeared and the authorities are on the lookout for him.

Swale Hay Unfit For Horses.

Dr. Alexander, professor of veterinary science at the University of Wisconsin, gives the following warning with respect to the feeding of swale or marsh hay:

Beware of swale hay for horse feeding if it is seen to contain horsetail (Equisetum palustre). At best much swale or marsh hay is unfit for horse feeding and should be used for the packing of iron castings or crockery. Horses have small stomachs and need nutritious food in small quantities often. Swale hay is bulky, woody, indigestible and lacking in nutriment. When infested with horsetail it is positively poisonous. Recently, in a county of Wisconsin where much swale hay has been fed this season, many horses have died. They became partially crazy, seemed to be drunk, staggered, weakened and in some cases went down paralyzed before death. We found that horsetail was the cause, and the trouble has ceased since this poisonous weed has been removed from the hay or other hay fed. In other cases of trouble, from feeding swale hay that had not had time to sweat or ripen in the mow or stack, animals also became partially crazy, but they did not die. The irritant in the hay was successfully antidoted by giving a tablespoonful of bicarbonate of soda twice daily in the feed or drinking water. Thus far, however, no antidote has been found for horsetail poisoning.

Schools Open With Large Attendance.

The Bourbon Female College opened Tuesday with the largest attendance in its history. The boarding department is filled to its capacity and the local patronage is the largest it has ever had, there being about seventy-five pupils enrolled in the primary and intermediate departments. The music classes are unusually full and increased interest is shown in the department of expression. Three new teachers have been added to the faculty, Miss Rice Thurman, of West Point, Ky., mathematics; Miss Frances Crouch, of Franklin, Tenn., expression and physical culture and Miss Bertha McCorkle, assistant in music.

The public school resumed Monday with a total enrollment of 636, of which 106 were students in the high school, twenty-five more in that department than any previous year. Owing to the crowded condition in some of the grades it may be necessary to add two more teachers to the faculty.

J. C. JEFFERSON, Administrator

Also at the same time and place,
Saturday, Sept. 28th, 1912,

at 10 o'clock a. m., as agent for heirs of, Rachael J. Chanslor and Isaac F. Chanslor, I will sell the Farm, Consisting of About 137 Acres.

Said farm lies on the south of 'Millersburg, about one half mile from town on the east side of the Lexington and Maysville turnpike; the L. & N. railroad running along west side. This is one of the most desirable farms in the county. It has on it a two-story brick house, with new roof and is in good condition; a tobacco barn and warehouse, with plank floor and good tobacco screw; stable, corn crib, buggy house, chicken house, smoke house and splendid ice house, three cellars; also tenement house, two cabins, and the best spring in the county, and two other fields with never failing water. This farm is well fenced and is in as good a neighborhood as anyone could wish, and can all be plowed. There is about 35 acres in corn and the rest in grass. Anyone wishing a home will make a great mistake if they don't attend this sale, as there is no better situation on the Lexington and Maysville turnpike, and is in one half mile of two of the best schools in the State, both male and female colleges and only 7 miles from Paris. It will be sold as a whole, or divided to suit purchasers.
TERMS.—Made known on day of sale.
J. C. JEFFERSON, Agent for Heirs.
